

TARGE

Incline High School Incline Village, Nevada
1968-1969

In the Beginning . . .

Foreword

Targe 1969

You may be wondering why the yearbook staff chose the unusual name "Targe" for Incline High School's annual. "Targe" is a Scottish word meaning "shield". We thought it fitting to name our yearbook "Targe" because Incline High's shield, like this yearbook, portrays all facets of our school life. The separate parts of the shield which appears on the cover of your yearbook stand for the following: The head of the Highlander, the school mascot, represents strength and dignity; the thistle leaves and thistles represent the national symbol of the Highlander country, Scotland; the scales of justice symbolize the spirit of fair play and sportsmanship, and the stand represents loyalty; the torch surrounded by the atomic symbol signifies progress through education; the lamp is the symbol of knowledge and our search for it; and the skier represents sportsmanship through athletic competition.

Knowledge, athletic prowess, and sportsmanship are symbolized in the center of the shield, just as they are the center and aim of school life. We have tried to trace our progress toward these aims throughout the seasons of the year in TARGE 1969. We, the staff of TARGE, hope you enjoy this first yearbook of Incline High School.

Dedication

This, the first yearbook of Incline High School, we proudly dedicate to the man who has watched Incline Village's educational facilities grow from a few classrooms above the Post Office to the two beautiful schools that we occupy today. He first became a part of this in 1962 when he filled the positions of custodian, bus driver, teacher, and principal of the small school with a total of less than 60 pupils.

He became principal of Incline Elementary School when it was built. This past year he has supervised two schools with a total enrollment of over 500 while working unceasingly to secure the best for us - a football scoreboard any school would be lucky to get in its second year, a fantastic ski program, and free rooster's buses to all the games, just to mention a few things.

This, the first yearbook of Incline High School, we proudly dedicate to our principal, Mr. Carl Shaff.

Senior Wills

I, WENDELL PROWS, a most honorable fellow of the highest degree, will all of my talents as a rogue and heated lover to Steve Marean.

I, JOHN ZENZIC, will my intelligence to Leslie.

I, RALPH NORRIS, will a can of mosquito repellent to Linda Hunt, the dent in my car to Dennis Hitchcock, and my ability to stay in school to Doug Newton.

I, CINDY BENSON, being the only senior of sound mind, do hereby bequeath the following valued possessions to their most worthy recipients.

To Lynn Scott, a thirty-gallon vat, To Desiree Decker, lots of big, juicy grapes. To Judey Crom, two bandaids. To my favorite sister, I leave another three exciting fun-filled years at Incline High School. To Bones, I leave the twenty pounds I am losing. To Vicki Mollhagen, two red doors that work. I would like to leave my magic skis to Mr. Stephens. He needs them. My old blue tennies go to Carol Faber. I can't afford a new V.W. and anyway, my tennies will last longer. Mr. Durant shall receive a specially sealed jar of snow to remind him of his trips over Mt. Rose just to see our fabulous Spanish class. To Peggy and Cher, I leave two pairs of snowshoes so they can make it home across the football field; and an ashtray apiece so they won't litter up the bathroom floors anymore. Steve Marean gets a brand new shiny McDonalds Swizzle-Stick. Mrs. Cynthia Reeves gets a five year supply of B.C. pills. Randy Tucker will receive a slightly used Spanish dictionary and some bird seed. Mr. Sanders gets three giant palm trees and a water fountain to put in the Math room, and as a special prize, Mr. Conkey shall receive my Chemistry lab book with its three hundred million red marks. Jim Yallally gets a specially made, heavy duty muzzle.

To all those I may have left out, I send my brilliant intelligence and lots of good times next year. All of the faculty gets my most deep-hearted sympathy. I hope you make it through next year with that bunch.

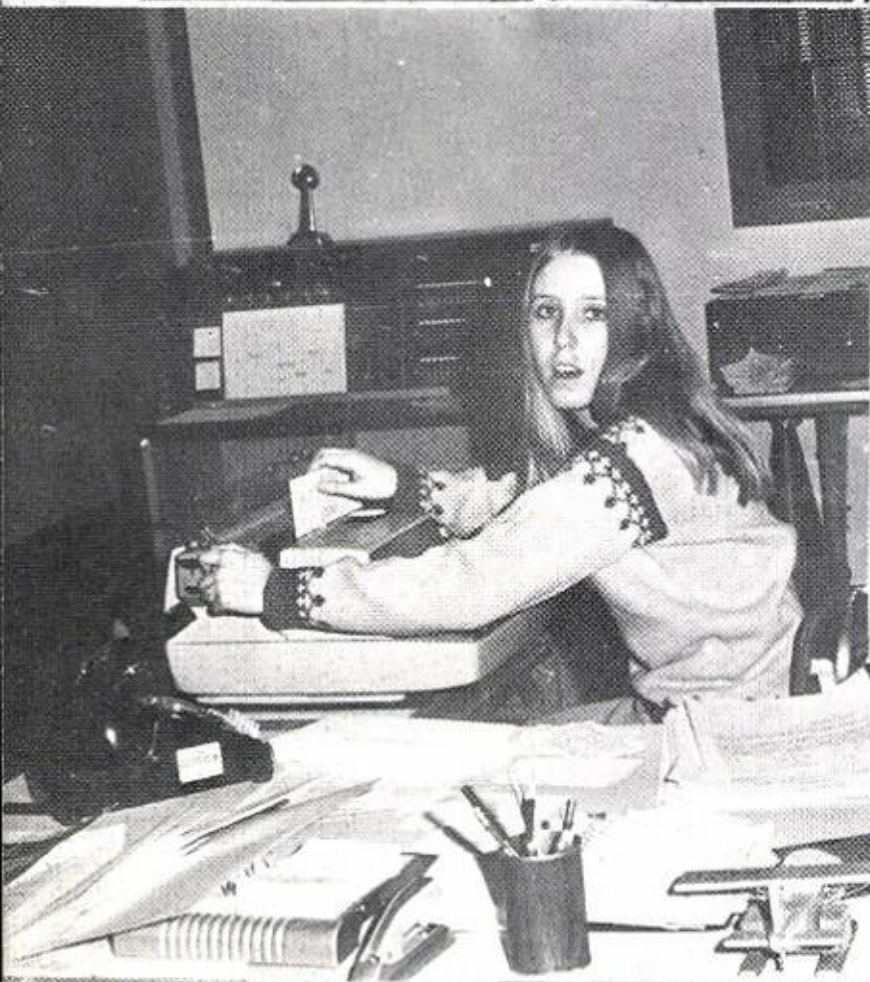

I, DEBBIE SAYRE, will my little sister Kim for the next four years to Mr. Stephen's English class. I will to Kim all the luck and skill in English that I didn't have.

I, CAROL FABER, will my neat little gray Volkswagen with its four dented fenders, one pulled off bumper, torn seat covers, and zero brakes to anyone who should be so wise as to want it. I also would like to will all my great scientific chemistry power to my little brother Keith.

I, JIM FOEGER, being of unsound mind, do hereby will my curls to Mr. Conkey and Mr. Stephens. All my intelligence, academic achievements, and physical awareness I will to Tim Gentry. I will all my sexual attractions to Steve Cook; all my semi-bald recap tires to Cole Smith; and to Leslee, the Eternal apple of my eye, my ability to swallow pride and give in to the opposition. BYE AND GOOD LUCK CAPTIVE SOULS!

I, CINDY PLUNKETT, leave ME to my Tom who is slaving away in the Army. To Judey Crom I leave my beerstein so that she may never die of thirst and my fuzzy booties to keep her tootsies warm. To Cindy Benson I leave memories of THE YELLOW SUBMARINE, surprises buried in the snow, a shovel, a jack, and my refrigerator. To Lynn Scott I would leave my gracefulness except I need all I can get so she will just have to share the key to the cellar that I am giving to Desiree Decker. To my dear, broken-backed English teacher, Mr. Stephens, I leave my ski poles to give him luck while skiing throughout the rest of his life, and I hope that next year, since I will not be here, he will be blessed with the company of my two sisters, Kristie and Suzanne. To Mr. Conkey, my devoted government teacher, I leave all the answers to the world's problems. To Mr. Armstrong I am giving the carburetor I found and the pieces to the top of my beerstein in hopes that they will be of some use to him. And last, I leave my genius to Suzie Crom, alias "Grunt".

I, KATHY SWAIN DAFORNO, will my best wishes and gratitude to Incline High School, and hope that it will be everlasting. I will my scholastic ability in English to Lorraine Anderson in hopes that she will better it for me. I will my great lung capacity for yelling at the basketball games to the class of '71 in hopes that they can scare the players into dropping the ball into the basket more often. I will my ability in business machines to all of the students in Mr. Borino's classes so that his job will be a little easier for him. Last, but most important of all, I will myself with love and understanding to my dear husband, George.

GOLF INCLINE

The CHATAUX congratulates the first Senior Class to graduate from our new Incline Village High School. We salute and compliment their efforts in producing TARGE, first issue of the high school yearbook. The CHATAUX is ready to serve you in any of your social functions.

James O. Carey, Club and Resort Manager

SKI INCLINE

We at SKI INCLINE are proud to have been a part of Incline Village High School's athletic program. Students have had the weekly use of our hill and buses to add skiing to their physical education instruction.

Luggi Foeger, Ski Incline Manager

BOWL INCLINE

Congratulations to the first seniors to graduate from Incline Village High School.

We have enjoyed making our bowling facilities available to regular weekly physical education classes, providing instruction as part of the school program in this popular international sport.

Ray Gawronski, Bowl Incline Manager

BUY INCLINE

We are proud to report to the first graduating class at Incline Village High School that Incline Village, Inc., and its parent companies, Boise Cascade Corporation and United State Land, Inc., have brought healthy growth to this community that will provide jobs, the opportunity to build a career, settle and raise a family here.
